New Universal Timer setting the new standard.

SAN ANTONIO, TX. Texas Hunter Products announced today the release of the all-new EZSet Digital Timer with Universal Adapters that quickly connect to any feeder (6 or 12 volt). “We call it the EZSet because it’s just that, so easy to set you can throw away the instructions”, says Bob Brock the company’s president. The EZSet has three buttons, making setting feed events (up to 9 per day) simple, while each feed event can be set independent of the other; 1 to 60 seconds per feeding.

The large display walks you through the options and then shuts off automatically to conserve energy. The timer is powered by the feeder’s battery, so there is no extra battery required just to run the timer. MaxGuard, a Texas Hunter exclusive, eliminates the need for a fuse while protecting the timer and the feeder motor from battery cross-connects and power surges.

The timer includes a 5-year limited warranty. A built-in battery tester takes the guesswork out of checking the battery level. An optional solar charger plugs directly into the timer and the timer displays ‘Charging’, just so you know it’s keeping the battery ‘hot’ in between feedings. Once the feedings are set, the EZ Test feature gives you a 10-second countdown and displays ‘Stand Back’ as a convenient reminder that it’s about to activate the feeder.

“They’ve thought of everything with this timer” says Stephen Ochsner, a long time Texas Hunter customer. “It’s just the simplest and most dependable timer we’ve ever used. Some of the timers on the market have 6 or 8 buttons, and I have to remember how to program it every time I go out there...Texas Hunter has made it simple and quick” he added.

“We design our products to save customers time, frustration and money in the long-run” says Brock whose company has been in business for over 50 years. “We spend a lot of time engineering these products and it’s great to hear that customers find Texas Hunter Products to be the best they’ve ever purchased, and the longest lasting,” he added.
